The harmonium stands on four fluted, S-shaped legs. The bottom edges of the sides are wavy. The instrument itself is laced inside, slightly embedded. There is a lute-shaped case for the pedals that activate the bellows. The one register harmonium has a blow system. Its top can be opened in four flaps on hinges. The range is 6 octaves, from C1 to C4, 73 notes altogether. The shelved, rectangular note stand is divided in the middle by a lath.
