

Báli emlék

Metalwork Collection

Accession Nr.: 62.2067.1

Date of production: late 19th century

Materials: gilt brass; textile

Techniques: chiselled; partly painted; pressed

Dimensions: height: 7,5 cm diameter: 6,2 x 5,7 cm

A bonbonniere, formed as the helmet of the sixth uhlan regiment of the imperial and royal army. The front shows the crowned coat of arms with the double-headed eagle. The upper two-third of the helmet is lined with a lieutenant's braid. There is a rose with the royal initials (F.J.) on the top. The plume is fixed by a long and a shorter chain, springing from a disc, which is decorated with a lion head.

Literature

- a kiállítást rendezte: Batári Ferenc, Vadászi Erzsébet: Historizmus és eklektika. Az európai iparművészet stíluskorszakai. Iparművészeti Múzeum, Budapest, 1992. - Nr. 405. (Ács Piroska)

